

Free Dress Patterns

On the opening day of this grand final 7-day sale,

Friday, December 17th

I will give absolutely free to the first 10 grown women entering each of Dunlap Brothers' stores, a seven-yard pattern of beautiful bookfold dress gingham. Store opens promptly at 9 o'clock on opening day.

A Letter From Dunlap Brothers Which Speaks for Itself

Muskogee, Oklahoma, Dec. 8, 1920.

Mr. C. H. DAWMAN,
Gen. Mgr. Illinois & Kansas Sales Co.,
Tulsa, Okla.

Dear Sir:—

We are taking this opportunity of complimenting you on the mightiness of the sale you have put on for us, and at your request we hereby grant you the privilege of "going the limit" on price reductions for the final 7 days. As you say, you can no doubt stir this state up from end to end and from border to border as it has seldom, if ever, been stirred before. Again we say, go ahead and make prices that will leave nothing but empty shelves and bare walls by the night of December 24th.

Sincerely yours,

DUNLAP BROTHERS

Ira E. Dunlap.

FAIR WARNING

My contract with Dunlap Brothers closes December 24, at midnight, and this greatest of all sales comes to a final close at that hour. This has probably been the greatest battle ever waged for lower prices, and now this 7-day super sale will completely route war prices in this part of the country. This will be the biggest week's sale ever rung up in Oklahoma's history.
